Traffic in State Is Light; Death Toll Is High

By UNITED PRESS

Traffic was light for a holiday on Pennsylvania highways Thursday, but the roadway death toll was high.

Multiple-death collisions shot the fatality count upwards, with nine persons killed in three accidents.

A United Press survey showed at least 15 persons were killed in highway accidents in Pennsylvania during the first 30 hours of the four-day holiday week end beginning at 6 p.m. Wednesday.

Four persons were killed in a Pennsylvania Turnpike crash near Harrisburg, three died in a collision near Lehighton and two were killed in a collison near Beaver Falls.

Veteran state troopers said they could not understand why the toll rose so high when traffic across the state was relatively light for a holiday.

Harrisburg: Four persons from Detroit were killed Thursday when a woman driver fell asleep at the wheel and their automobile slammed into a concrete abutment near the West Shore Interchange of the Pennsylvania Turnpike. Tentatively identified as the victims were Willie Mae Conway, 46, the driver; Gloria Rowland, 6, believed to be her granddaughter; Dan Hill, 58, and Sara Davis, 65.

Harrisburg: John R. Wahlgren, 37, Mineola, N.Y., was killed instantly Thursday when he lost control of his tractor - tank truck on the Pennsylvania Turnpike near the East Shore Interchange. The vehicle slammed into a guard rail, tossing Wahlgren's body to the ground.

Lehighton: Two women of New Jersey and an 18-month-old baby were killed and four other persons injured Thursday in a two-car collision on route 903 near here. The dead were identified as Diana Marie Strumble, 17, Bloomingdale, N.J.; Mrs. Shirley Frishknecht, 29, Mountain View, N. J., and her son, Arthur.

Beaver Falls: Two girls were killed and six other young persons were injured late Thursday in a two-car collision on two - lane Barclay Hill Road near Ohioview, six miles west of here. Lynn Hohenshell, 19, of Industry, Pa., was dead on arrival at a Beaver Falls hospital. Carol Leasha, 16, Beaver Pa., died in Rochester Hospital, Rochester, Pa., early today. Charles Bennett, of Monaca, Pa., one of the drivers, and Roy Winkle, of Center Twp., Beaver County, were in critical condition at Beaver Valley General Hospital.

Titusville: James Letta, 18, Oil City, was killed early Thursday when he lost control of his car and it hit a utility pole two miles south of Titusville on Route 8. Melvin Strain, Oil City RD 2, riding with Letta, was hospitalized. State police said Letta had his

Drivers Warned To Get Travel Under Control

By UNITED PRESS

Traffic victims died one at a time or two, three and four at a clip in the Fourth of July, and alarmed safety councilors appealed today to drivers to get their travel under control.

Carelessness also took a heavy toll at beaches and in vacation areas. But the spurting traffic fatality lists took most of the attention of the National Safety Council.

A United Press tally at noon, e.d.t., showed 158 Americans dead in highway accidents, since the holiday began at 6 p.m. Wednesday. There were 91 drownings, 6 died in airplane accidents, and 14 in miscellaneous mishaps, for a total of 269.

Ohio had 16 traffic deaths, Pennsylvania 15, Texas 13, Oklahoma 12, New York 10 and California 8.

Ned H. Dearborn, president of the National Safety Council issued a warning during the early morning hours that the toll will come near the pre-holiday estimates of 535 persons killed unless the rate slowed. Instead, the rate mounted as reports came in.

We appeal to the drivers to help traffic enforcement agencies in bringing the toll back under control," said Dearborn. It is increasing at an alarming rate."

The rate was running ahead of that in the same period of elapsed time in the last previous four-day holiday of the year, New Year's.

Although the heavy growth of beard makes him appear older, the Lieutenant is only 23.

Fireworks Show Here Attracts Thousands

An estimated 20,000 persons saw a dazzling fireworks display sponsored by the Monessen Lions Club at Memorial Stadium Wednesday night.

About 7,000 of the crowd witnessed the show from inside the stadium while others lined the hillsides in upper Monessen for the event.

Prior to the fireworks display at 10 o'clock, the stadium crowd was entertained with a two-hour show featuring the music of Angie Bates and his orchestra.

Beauty Introduced

Another feature was the introduction of Rosalie Culp, of Monessen, who will prepresent Pennsylvania in the Miss Universe beauty contest in Long Beach, Calif., this month.

Members of the Lions Club, including "The Four Specs", a musical quartet, also performed.

The fireworks display lasted about an hour. It featured thunderous aerial bombs, rockets and other multi-colored missiles.

Near the end of the show, there was a display which showed two airplanes attacking a battleship.

The grand finale saw a mass of fireworks zooming and booming into the skies.

50 Persons Drown

CALCUTTA, India (UP)—Fifty persons were reported drowned today when a boat carrying 75 persons capsized in the flooded Behar Province river of Koel.

Four in Escape From Clarion County Jail

CLARION, Pa. (UP) — Four men and a youth still were at large today following their escape from Clarion County jail.

The fire broke through an 18-inch wall separating the men's and women's departments of the 84-year-old jail building Thursday night, crawled through two windows and climbed down a fire escape.

The escapees were identified as Eugene Hollenbaugh, 24, and his brother McClellan, 21, both of Summerville, Jefferson County; Kenneth Galbraith, 29, Strattonville RD 1, Clarion County; Roland Hawk, 19, Mahoning, Armstrong County, and Carl R. Biehl, 16, of Clarion.

Sheriff Walter A. Mong said he presumed they stole an automobile following their escape. He issued a teletyped alarm throughout Pennsylvania and neighboring states.

Mong said no one was confined in the women's department of the jail, built in 1873. He said six other prisoners in the men's department did not try to take part in the break.

Mong said the escaped prisoners knocked the plaster loose from the wall and then dug out the bricks, which were put together with a lime mixture.

The Hollenbaugh brothers and Hawk were awaiting trial on larceny charges in connection with the theft of mine equipment which was sold in Sharon.

Galbraith was awaiting trial on an automobile larceny charge and Biehl was committed to the jail on a court order as a juvenile delinquent.

Driver Arrested By Local Police

Jackaway Gives His Position

The Rev. J. Nelson Jackaway said today he will not appeal a report which led to his dismissal as pastor of the Rehoboth Presbyterian Church in Rostraver Twp.

Instead the Rev. Mr. Jackaway offered a "statement of facts for the judgment of the people."

The Redstone Presbytery, a governing body of the church, voted on June 25 that the pastoral relationship between the Rev. Mr. Jackaway and the Rehoboth Presbyterian Church be dissolved as of Oct. 31, 1957.

The action was taken on the recommendation of a special investigating committee which has been looking into "a situation of unrest within the church." The committee suggested to the Presbytery that the Rev. Mr. Jackaway be dismissed as of July 31, but this was amended to October 31 by a standing vote of about 35 to nine.

The investigation at Rehoboth was touched off after the Rev. Mr. Jackaway charged from the pulpit that political and racket elements were agitating for his removal because of his activities in "Operation: Crusade" — a minister-lay group crusading aginst vice and rackets.

'Charges not Grounded'

The investigating committee claimed that the Rev. Mr. Jackaway's association with Operation: Crusade had no connection with the difficulties in the Church.

The report stated:

"As far as we could determine, any charges made or inferred concerning any members of the church and their partnership with the 'corrupt politicians' in Westmoreland County to oust him from his pastorate because of his activities in Operation: Crusade' were not grounded in fact."

In compliance with a Presbytery request, the Rev. Mr. Jackaway did not comment on the report while he pondered a decision to appeal to the Pennsylvania Synod, next highest governing body of the church.

However the Rev. Mr. Jackaway said today he wanted to present "the following facts for the judgment of the people."

1. The Presbytery of Redstone gave him a "decided vote of confidence by rejecting the Commission's recommendation for immediate dismissal and accepting instead the plan agreed upon by the officers and pastor giving until October 31st for relocation."

2. The officers of Rehoboth Church signed an agreement of almost unanimous cooperation with the pastor on the basis of the October date. Previously the congregation had given the pastor a vote of confidence by increasing his salary by $1000 per year and also by above average attendance in recent months.

'Internal Unrest'

3. The Rev. Mr. Jackaway said an appeal would continue internal unrest since it could not be acted upon until the next meeting of the Synod in June of 1958. Moreover an appeal would not alter the termination date of October 31st.

"4. The Rev. Mr. Jackaway contended that while the Commission report claimed that Operation: Crusade was not involved in the case, he was none-the-less instructed that "discussion of the activities of Operation: Crusade. . . . be kept from the pulpit and all church activities." The Rev. Mr. Jackaway further contended that

Minor Fire in Shed Last Night

Monessen firemen last night were summoned to quell a minor fire in a small shed located on Chestnut St. near the intersection of Summit and Leeds Ave.

Firemen answered the call about 10 o'clock.

Although the cause of the fire was undetermined, some residents in the area said they believed it was the result of some boys unlawfully shooting fireworks near the shed.

A large crowd gathered in the vicinity.

Feet Too Big, So Army Makes Him a Clerk

SAN PEDRO, Calif. (UP)—The Army admitted today that PFC John Ano, 2, of Trenton, N.J., was assigned as a clerk at Ft. MacArthur here because of his big feet.

The 6-foot, 3-inch soldier has feet which measure 12½ inches long and require size 16 shoes. The best the Army could come up with was size 14 foot wear—too tight.

So Ano couldn't be asked to drill. He wore his own shoes for the first year he was in the service but the shoes finally gave out. The private said he had solved his foot problem in civilian life by working for a shoe firm.

The Army even asked the Navy for help in locating a pair of shoes which would fit Ano. No luck and now Ano holds the distinction of being the only GI who wears open-toe sandals with a regulation uniform.

Malenkov and Molotov Jailed In Red Shakeup

LONDON (UP) — Soviet military leaders threw their support today to Nikita S. Khrushchev and launched a campaign of abuse that was rapidly writing the doom of Khrushchev's ousted political opponents.

There still was no official word that Vyacheslav M. Molotov, Georgi M. Malenkov and Lazar M. Kaganovich — the "Molotov trio" — had been jailed. But their disgrace was complete and the army-led charges put their future in doubt.

Soviet Defense Minister Marshal Georgi Zhukov led the attack. He accused Molotov and his backers of "conspiring" to remove the elected leaders of the Soviet Communist Party — the most serious charge yet made against the three men.

The official organ of the Soviet armed forces, Red Star, joined in the attack and said the deposed leaders "intrigued and conspired to remove the elected leaders and fill key posts with their own followers."

Red Star included one of three other lesser Soviet officials in the charges — former Foreign Minister Dmitri Shepilov.

Movement Grows

The "get Molotov" movement grew like a giant snowball. Russian newspapers were getting more and more outspoken by the hour. The trade newspaper Trud—even the children's newspaper Ploneer Pravda joined in for the kill.

One dispatch from Moscow said a mass meeting of workers in the Ural mountain city of "Molotov" petitioned the Supreme Soviet to change the name of the town back to his old name of "Perm."

Already it was apparent that Khrushchev's power was approaching that of the late Josef Stalin.

Khrushchev was reported planning a major purge of Stalinists and old line Bolsheviks in the Soviet satellites, and further purges in Russia itself appeared inevitable. American diplomatic experts said Khrushchev may become Russia's new dictator.

Three lesser Soviet leaders were fired from their posts in the Communist Party presidium in one of Moscow's greatest political upheavals since the death of Stalin, but it still was not known whether the six "anti party" victims would be brought to trial.

Marshal Nikolai Bulganin remained in power, but any doubt of Khrushchev's growing importance vanished today when Defense Minister Marshal Georgi Zhukov led the Soviet high command in pledging support to the new Khrushchev policies.

Top Level Meetings Held

The military leaders, at meetings in Moscow, Sevastopol, Kief and Leningrad, personally joined in the attacks on the Molotov group — Khrushchev's greatest rival for power.

The defense leaders supporting the new Khrushchev line included such famous military leaders as Marshal Ivan Konlev, chief of the Warsaw Pact forces, and the

Six Members of Co. D Leave For Training

Six members of Monessen Co. D, 110th Infantry, 28th Division, will leave tomorrow for six months of active duty training at Fort Knox, Ky. Four others will leave later this month.

Scheduled to depart tomorrow are Michael Tweardy, Richard Joyce, Donald Jones, Ermino Ciocca, Joseph Tucci Jr., and Clarence Matheny, all of Monessen.

Leaving later will be Jay Pokabla, of Monessen; Sidney and Harry Ackerman, of Donora, and Nixon O'Neil, of Daisytown.

The Co. D soldiers will undergo three phases of training. The first will be basic military training. The second phase will include specialist training which will equip them to perform an equivalent job in the company here when they return from active duty. The final phase will be on-the-job training which will further skill them in the specialist phase they learned.

By volunteering for this six-month active duty program, according to Capt. Harry Davis, commander, the men have reduced their reserve obligations to six years. The active duty program, he said, enables the men to cut down to a minimum the amount of time they would have to absent themselves from their homes, jobs and schools.

Capt. Davis said anyone of draft age is eligible to enlist in the program. M-Sgt. William A. Cousins, unit administrator at the company headquarters at the Armory at Ninth St. and Donner Ave., Monessen, is in charge of recruiting.

He said the minor collision involved cars driven by Harry Pehote, of 310 Wright St., Monessen, and Alex Klipnick, of Shepler Hill. The mishap occurred at 1:40 p. m. at the intersection of First St. and Schoonmaker Ave.

Most Powerful Atom Blast Fired in U.S.

ATOMIC TEST SITE, Nev. (UP) —American scientists today set off a monster atomic device that appeared to be the most powerful ever fired inside the United States. It was possibly 3½ times as violent as old -fashioned A-bombs which destroyed two Japanese cities and brought World War II to a close.

The device was set off exactly on schedule at 7:40 a.m. e.d.t. It was suspended from a helium-filled captive balloon some 1,500 feet above the desert floor of Yucca Flat, 75 miles northeast of Las Vegas.

It exploded with a blinding flash more than 500 times brighter than the sun. The flash was visible for hundreds of miles in all directions as a tremendous fireball boiled upward in a clear sky.

At 8 a.m., e.d.t., test director James A. Reeves announced that hasty calculations by the atomic scientists who witnessed the blast indicated "it appeared to be in the same general range as the previous high yield shot."

This meant the bomb's violence was somewhere in the neighborhood of the 60 kiloton shot or about 60,000 tons of TNT, fired in 1953 on Yucca Flat.

Reeves said a more precise announcement as to the bomb's yield would be made later in the day.

The A-bombs dropped on Japan were equal only to 20,000 tons of TNT, and the biggest A-bomb set off in the U.S. previously was one in 1953 with a violence of 60,000 tons.

The fireball which followed the flash was tremendous. It burned at a temperature of nearly one million degrees centigrade, and at News Nob, 13 miles away, its heat felt for a moment like someone had opened the door of a giant blast furnace.

Some 2,000 Marines who underwent the blast in trenches nearly 3½ miles from ground zero relayed word back to control point that although there had been some slight caving in of their trenches, no one had been injured.

Two Men Held in Charleroi

Two Monessen men, Thomas M. Carroll, 23, of 514 Donner Ave., and William K. Ragan, 25, of Box 987, were arrested on charges of breaking and entering and attempted burglary yesterday morning in Charleroi, it was reported today.

The pair was arrested when police were making a routine check of the Reeves Motor Corporation at 303 First Street.

According to reports, Policemen George Ramusivich, Ed Hank and Samuel Wonchek were making their checks when they noticed a man sitting in a car near the Reeves establishment. They saw another man near the building.

Fled in Auto

Upon seeing the police, the pair fled in their auto but were apprehended by Woncheck who gave chase in a cruiser.

Lt. Robert Ellison, of Charleroi, and Lt. Joseph Mischyshyn, of Monessen, were called to question the two men.

They admitted breaking a window with a screw driver to gain entrance to the building but stated they did not take anything.

Police said a soft drink machine was broken into, and the main office desk and a cash register were ransacked.

The men are being held until a further check can be made by Charles Reeves, owner, to see if anything was taken.

MARRIAGE IN ABSENTIA — Army Specialist William S. Girard was married to his Japanese sweetheart — but he wasn't at the ceremony. Under Japanese law, the pair were legally wedded when his fiancee, Haru "Candy" Sueyama (above), registered the necessary documents with a Japanese Ward Office. Present with "Candy" at the wedding is a Japanese interpreter employed by the U. S. Army. Girard is still awaiting the decision as to whether the Japanese or American Military court has juridiction over him, concerning the alleged shooting of a Japanese woman.

In Washington American diplomatic experts felt that Khrushchev had immeasurably strengthened his hold on the Kremlin and that the move marked a new rise in power for the Red army.

Moscow newspapers predicted the new leadership would "work more efficiently for relaxation of international tensions and world peace" but Washington sources saw little change in relations between East and West.

Economic Reforms Predicted

Drastic reforms in Russia's economy were predicted — heralded by a Soviet decree that farmers no longer will have to deliver their products to the government. It was a major concession to win support of the farmers who have chafed under the yoke of their forced deliveries.

But the most immediate effect was expected to be widespread changes in the satellites.

The Soviet political upheaval was accompanied by the demotion of two Romanian Stalinists. Informed sources said this apparently signified the start of a purge by Khrushchev aimed at ridding the Red world of the last Stalinists.

The "old guard" leadership as represented by Molotov remains in power in Czechoslovakia, Albania, Romania, Bulgaria and East Germany.

Barium Steel to Lease Coal Land With Railroad

NEW YORK (UP) — Barium Steel Corp. has acquired an option to lease 5,700 acres of coal land in Western Pennsylvania under a contract recently arranged with Pennsylvania Railroad.

An official of the steel firm declined, however, to disclose the exact location of the land.

J. A. Sisto, president and chairman of Barium, said Wednesday the transaction was "another important step in Barium's program to expand its production facilities on its newly-acquired 900-acre site on the Delaware River in Burlington and Florence Twps. in New Jersey."

He said plans call for eventual construction of a fully-integrated steel mill on the New Jersey site to produce plate, structural shapes and seamless tubing.

Religious Tensions Discussed by Editor

(Author of this week's religious column is the editor-in-chief of the well-known Roman Catholic weekly, America. He discusses the tensions between Protestants and Catholics over questions of school buses, politics and other matters.)

By FR. THURSTON N. DAVIS
Editor-In-Chief Of America
National Catholic Weekly

There has been a lot said and a lot written recently about religious tensions. Many of us are concerned over them, particularly over worsening relations between Protestant and Catholics. I am not alone in my judgment that these tensions are mounting in the United States. My work as editor of the Catholic weekly review America brings me into contact with a number of respected Protestant leaders. Many of them are worried over this trend in our society.

Is this tension a temporary thing? Will it soon be relieved? I don't think so.

As Dr. Robert McAfee Brown wrote recently in the Protestant magazine, Christianity And Crisis, controversy is "sure to continue." He points to the likelihood that Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts may emerge as Democratic candidate for the presidency in 1960. It is clear, Dr. Brown writes, that in the next three years "all of the old stock arguments about 'Catholics in politics,' plus a good many new ones, will be hauled out, aired and employed with an increasing intensity, bitterness and vigor."

Act of Discrimination

One source or religious tension which is certain to be with us for a long time is the current dispute over the use of public bus transportation for parochial school children. This important issue flared up in Augusta, Maine, only a few months ago. More recently, the state of Connecticut was sharply divided on this same question. A 133-133 tie vote in the state Legislature was broken by the speaker's ballot in favor of a bill which authorizes Connecticut townships, on the basis of local option, to extend the benefits of this safety measure to all children.

Naturally, Catholics feel that to deny this public-welfare benefit to a child—because he gets off the bus at a parochial school rather than a public school—is an act of discrimination. They cite the Supreme Court's 1947 decision in the Everson case. Catholics demand this right for their children. Protestant spokesmen in Connecticut and elsewhere vigorously oppose it.

Information invariably helps to solve problems of this kind. I have for some time advocated that Catholic parents make an effort to talk over this and related questions with their Protestant neighbors.

Choice of Education

Catholics believe in religious education for their children. They want their youngsters to learn geography, arithmetic, history, languages and science. But they also want them to learn about God, about their duty to know, love and serve Him. They feel that this can be done best in the atmosphere of a parochial school.

The Supreme Court has clearly upheld their right to choose such schools for their children. With untold sacrifice to themselves they have built and are maintaining these schools. In addition, they pay their taxes as citizens to support the public schools of the nation.

If Catholic parents would only discuss the whys and wherefores of Catholic education with their Protestant friends, a lot of tension would be relieved. Some Catholics are doing this, of course. But many more of them should do the same. Most Protestants have just never had an opportunity to find out, from a Catholic, what Catholic schools are all about. A great deal of sympathy and understanding would come from these neighborly conversations. There is too much fairness and good will among American non-Catholics for us to anticipate any other result.

privately he was told to "cease all connection" with the racket-busting movement.

"5. The Rev. Mr. Jackaway claimed that he has never connected any member of Rehoboth Church directly with the rackets but that some had become "consciously or unconsciously, channels through which various pressures had been exercised on the pastor."

6. Mr. Jackaway pointed out that several other ministers have been attacked for their role in Operation: Crusade. He named Dr. Allan J. Howes, formerly of Monessen and now in Uniontown; Rev. William P. Cooke and Dr. Wilfred Noble, of New Kensington.

7. The Rev. Mr. Jackaway charged that the Commission "made every effort to limit this to a local church dispute but when this difficulty was resolved the possible peace was destroyed by the Commission itself in a final effort to force the Rev. Mr. Jackaway out by July 1st, which bears out the original thesis that the Pastor has been working under pressures seeking to drive him from his pulpit."

Today in Congress—

House Leaders Split Over School Aid Bill

WASHINGTON (UP) — House Democratic and Republican leaders split sharply today over whether to call the controversial school aid bill up for a vote.

Chances for passage of the measure seemed slimmer than ever and both parties maneuvered to try to tag the other with the blame if it is killed.

GOP leaders are determined to avoid a showdown vote on the bill, despite the fact it is a key plank in President iEsenhower's legislative program.

Their reason is that a private poll of GOP members shows their party overwhelmingly opposed to the federal aid to education. According to one report, only 50 of the 200 Republican House members said they would go along with it.

But Democratic leaders are just as determined to bring the measure onto the floor for a vote. It is now in the House Rules Committee where hearings have not yet begun on it.

GOP Leader Joseph W. Martin (Mass.) contends the measure is likely to expire in the Democratic-controlled committee. But Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex.) and Rep. Cleveland Bailey predicted it will be cleared.

But even Bailey, one of the bill's staunchest backers and chairman of a House education subcommittee which authored it, gives the bill only a 50-50 chance of final House approval.

Other congressional news:

Elections: The Senate's clean new elections bill appeared likely to become a casualty of the civil rights fight. The Senate Rules Committee has approved the measure, but Sen. Thomas C. Hennings (D-Mo.), chairman of the group, said a formal report will not be ready for two weeks. By that time the Senate is expected to be in the midst of a civil rights filibuster which will kill off chances of such legislation this year.

Foreign Aid: The Council of State Chambers of Commerce called on Congress to chop almost one billion dollars off President Eisenhower's $3,864,000,000 foreign aid program. The council said Congress has made cuts averaging 22.3 per cent in aid requests the past five years and should do so again this session. Such a cut would amount to 979 million dollars.

Humphrey: Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.) charged the administration's Middle East policy concerned itself "too much with kings and oil, too little with people and water." He called for creation of a Middle East development agency to stave off the threat of Communism and to build up living standards in the area. Humphrey, chairman of a Senate foreign relations subcommittee on the Middle East, made the comments in a report on his trip to the area earlier this year.

Conservation: Administration farm officials plan a drastic overhauling of the 1958 soil conservation subsidies program. Revision of the program became known when an Agriculture Department memorandum came into the hands of several congressmen this week. The memorandum called for sharply cutting back many conservation measures and the outright dropping of a number of others.

Methodism in 181st Anniversary At Brownsville

The 181st anniversary of the founding of Methodism in Brownsville will be celebrated Sunday with services at 10:30 a. m. in the North Side First Methodist Church.

The church pastor the Rev. Franklin T. James, said "Methodism was the earliest form of Christian religion to come to this region, and it traces its history back to July 4, 1776, when the first Methodist Church was established."

The observance this year is of double significance since the two Methodist churches of Brownsville have merged and are operating as one church.

The merger vote was taken Sept. 16, 1956, and it was brought together the First Church, founded in 1776, and the South Brownsville Church, founded in 1834.

The anniversary sermon will be delivered by the Rev. Mr. James. The history of the two churches will be told by Joseph Grafinger, one of the senior members of the church and for several years an honorary steward.

The Monessen group includes Roland E. Bunting, district manager; William Parkinson, staff manager, and Louis G. Cotton and Charles W. Schwer, agents.

The sessions, sponsored by the company, will feature discussions on advanced underwriting techniques in business and taxation.

WHILE AWAITING RULING — Teamsters union official James Hoffa pauses outside federal court in Washington while awaiting a mistrial motion ruling by Judge Burnita S. Matthews. He is accused of bribery and conspiracy in connection with a senate investigation of labor activities. With him are his defense attorneys, Edward B. Williams and Martha Jefferson. The judge denied motion.

Leader Signs Parole Officers Pay Increase

HARRISBURG (UP)—The secretary of the state Pardons Board and its district parole officers are eligible for pay increases today under legislation signed by Gov. George M. Leader.

The governor enacted a law which removed the salary limits placed on the offices. The board secretary now receives $6,000 annually while Pittsburgh and Philadelphia parole officers are paid $7,000. All other parole officers receive $5,500.

Among other legislation signed by Gov. Leader late Wednesday were measures:

—Providing birth registration for children of Pennsylvania residents born outside the United States and foreign children adopted by Commonwealth residents.

— spelling out the rights of defendants in non-support cases in Philadelphia. Among other procedures, the series requires defendants must have a hearing within two court days or 48 hours from the time he is taken into custody.

—Allowing beer licensees to operate their establishments on either standard or daylight saving time. Previous legislation gave liquor establishments the same choice.

—Giving the state Banking Department powers to regulate the conduct of banking institutions and control over the establishment of branch banks. The legislation was the result of a court decision that no "clear" standards covering the situations were in the banking code.

—Permitting the Revenue Department to set minimum standards and specifications for brake fluid used in Pennsylvania vehicles. The law was designed to prevent the sale of misbranded, adulterated or ineffective fluids.

TV Actress Is Auto Victim In Wyoming

LARAMIE, Wyo. (UP) — The body of actress Judy Tyler, whose brilliant Broadway, movie and television career ended tragically in an automobile accident Wednesday, will be returned to her parents in Ridgefield, Conn., Saturday for burial.

Singer Elvis Presley, who had just completed the lead role opposite the 24-year-old, brown-eyed actress in a new movie, was heart broken when he learned of her death Thursday.

"All of us boys really loved that girl," Presley said at his home in Memphis, Tenn. "She meant a lot to all of us. I don't believe I can stand to see that movie we made together now, just don't believe I can."

Miss Tyler and her husband of only four months, Gregory Lafayette, were killed at 5:50 p.m., on Wednesday when their automobile collided with another just north of Rock River, Wyo., on U.S. 30. They were returning to their New York home for a vacation as Miss Tyler had just completed the movie, "Jailhouse Rock," with Presley in Hollywood.

Miss Tyler, a black - haired beauty, was killed instantly in the grinding head-on collision. Her body was torn in half. Lafayette, 24, a television actor from Hopewell Junction, N.Y., died early on Thursday in a Laramie hospital of a broken back and internal injuries.

Expert Says 'Pike Work Necessary

HARRISBURG, Pa. (UP) — A Pennsylvania State University lecturer testified Thursday drilling work done by Manu-Mine Research and Development Corp. on the Pennsylvania Turnpike's Northeastern Extension was "absolutely necessary" to prevent cave-ins.

Robert M. Fleming, a retired coal mine manager and part-time lecturer at Penn State's College of Mineral Industries, said he didn't know "of any better system" than that followed by Manu-Mine to prevent subsidence along the roadway.

He told Dauphin County Court during a special holiday session he prepared a legislative report on the subsidence problem in the anthracite coal fields last March.

Prospect By Drilling

A survey showed, he said, that extensive mine workings in the area made it necessary for Manu-Mine to "prospect by drilling" to learn where and how deep were the voids.

The road "had to be doubly, carefully checked because vibration is the primary cause of subsidence," he said.

He said the vibration from traffic could have caused a sudden cave-in and resulted in a "disaster of some kind."

Earlier, state prosecutor Vincent G. Panati introduced testimony to support the Commonwealth's contention Manu - Mine knew it was to get the drilling contract about two months before the final award was made by the Turnpike Commission.

Testimony Recalled

Panati asked defense witness Joseph W. Speicher, Kendall, N.J., a former drill chief for Manu-Mine, to recall his testimony to a special grand jury investigating the disputed contract.

Panati said Speicher had testified he was told in late 1954 that Manu-Mine was to get the work. The contract was not formally awarded until Feb. 28, 1955.

Speicher answered that he was "confused" about the dates.

Testifying under direct examination, Speicher said Manu-Mine, a Reading concern, had better equipment which enabled it to drill four or five times faster than had been estimated originally.

Parking Sites For Greensburg

GREENSBURG, Pa. (UP)—The Greensburg Parking Authority Thursday awarded contracts for demolition of buildings on two proposed parking sites and erection of a $38,611 retaining wall at a third.

The contract for erecting the wall was awarded to Westmoreland Construction Co., Greensburg.

Recipients of the demolition contracts were the Homestead Building Supply and Wrecking Co., Homestead, Pa., and Ed Poole, Greensburg.

Three of four proposed off-street parking lots are expected to be completed by Christmas, according to an authority spokesman.

Fickle Fanny to Pay Off Investors Finally

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Fickle Fanny will finally pay off, at 7 to 1.

Five years of litigation over profits of the fabulous Clinton County gas well ended today with 900 shareholders due to receive $700 for each $100 invested.

Under a distribution order signed by Judge Henry Ellenbogen the $1,203,993 netted from the well before it went dry will be split in the following manner after deduction of expenses.

One-eighth to Mr. and Mrs. Thomas L. Jents, owners of the site on which the well was drilled.

Five-twentyfourths to John A. McGuire, who promoted the well.

Two-thirds to the shareholders.

The long legal debate over Fickle Fanny was set off when the Keta Gas & Oil Co., of Bradford, claimed the well had been drilled on land it had under lease.

The state Supreme Court finally awarded ownership to McGuire.

Judge Ellenbogen's distribution order, which followed six weeks of testimony, required the consent signature of 14 individual attorneys of law firms which took part in the case.

The productive well originally was called Tamarac No. 1, but received the name Fickle Fanny because of the series of law suits and fires which plagued it.

The fires necessitated the services of firefighting experts from Texas and this expense, $47,080, was deducted from McGuire's share. Other deductions pared McGuire's share of $250,831 to $116,429.

The shareholders' cut of $802,662 was reduced to $628,371 after deductions of $87,000 for legal fees and $57,000 for losses resulting from fires.

The only expense deducted from the $150,499 share awarded the Jents couple was $1,245 for legal fees.

Attorneys Morris Klewans and Fred Dobmeier drew $90,000 for their legal battle against the Keta firm.

Editorials—

What Is The City Park for?

IT SEEMS to us high time that Monessen's city officials took a stand to protect City Park from further mutilation by well-intentioned but misguided groups which seem bent upon plastering it with physical evidence of patriotism and piety.

City Park was designed as a rustic recreation area. All of the original facilities were planned to make the Park an inviting retreat for families and other relatively small groups. And the designers sought to disturb the natural beauty of the site as little as possible.

But if the city officials responsible for the maintenance of the park don't soon get the situation under control, it is going to be anything but the rustic retreat it was intended to be.

The installation some years ago of mechanical rides, for example, gave the park something of the atmosphere of a commercial amusement park. And the blaring of canned music over an amplifying system was a mighty poor substitute for the songs of the birds.

Recently the Eagles lodge was permitted to erect a tablet on which the Ten Commandments are inscribed. Now, the Eagles are certainly to be commended for their interest in promoting obedience of the Ten Commandments, and Monessen perhaps could stand some increase of such obedience. But we raise a question as to the use of the City Park for even this noble purpose.

Now the Veterans of Foreign Wars is planning to install a Sherman tank, of all things, in some conspicuous location in the park as a war memorial. Then every time a family enters the park for an outing, it must first look into the business end of a cannon.

Again the intent is commendable. But if this process continues without some relationship to the original concept of the City Park, are we sure we won't wind up with something that is less than satisfactory?

The city fathers are understandably anxious to cooperate with citizen groups. But they must remember that their responsibility where public property is concerned is to the community as a whole. And they should not permit this creeping change in the nature of City Park to take place without full and open consideration of the ultimate effect.

Partly Solved

THE WESTMORELAND County court apparently called on the wisdom of Solomon in deciding what to do with several thousand dollars in wage tax money which has been in dispute between the City of Monessen and the Rostraver Township School District. The court cut the "baby" in half.

This is an obviously neat solution of part of the predicament which has resulted because a small neighborhood was annexed to the city but has had to remain in the Township School District. The residents of this area, according to the court decree, will pay a half of one per cent of their incomes to the city and the other half per cent to the Rostraver School District.

But we still feel that this is an unnatural situation which ought not to exist indefinitely. The residents of this area asked to be taken into the city, and a majority apparently want to send their children to Monessen schools.

Their wishes should be complied with at the earliest possible date, and the taxing bodies of both Monessen and Rostraver should be making plans towards that end.

Safety Pays

THE PUBLIC is now receiving further concrete evidence of the costliness of highway accidents. Automobile insurance rates in Pennsylvania are going up again.

These rates, of course, are tied directly to the claim experience of the insurance companies. As accidents increase in number and severity, the cost of insuring against them increases.

It is particularly noteworthy that the rates on automobiles driven by males under the age of 25 are advancing again out of proportion with the increases for other classes of drivers.

So here are the cash penalties, which all automobile owners are having to pay, for highway carelessness. And carelessness is the right word, too, since a huge percentage of auto accidents are preventable.

The life you save may be your own — and the money as well.

Merry-Go-Round—

Pearson Side Of Security Leak Charge

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—Loyd Wright, the Los Angeles friend of Vice President Nixon who wants newsmen sent to jail for revealing unauthorized information, has just charged a group of national magazines, newspapers, and columnists as "purveyors of information vital to national security, purloined by devious means" which "gives aid to our enemies as effectively as the foreign agent."

Mr. Pearson

The Army's chief of information, Maj. Gen. Guy Meloy, subsequently informed Congress that he didn't know of a single case where a newspaperman had "stolen or purloined secret military information."

However, since Mr. Wright singled me out among 19 well-known magazines, newspapers, and writers and chose to mention me alone by name, I should like to diagnose the columns to which he refers and let the public decide whether they gave "aid to our enemies." Here are the columns cited by Mr. Wright:

Wake Island Conference — On Jan. 23, 1951, I reported the stenographic record of the talk between President Truman and Gen. Douglas MacArthur in their mid-pacific conference at which MacArthur said: "I hope to be able to have the 8th Army back in Japan by Christmas." The column included various other direct quotes.

When the New York Times published an almost identical story April 21, 1951, using the same quotes, it was awarded a Pulitzer prize.

Chinese Report on U. S. Retreat — On Jan. 31, 1951, I published the partial text of a captured Chinese combat bulletin giving the enemy's secret estimate of American fighting ability. The report was humiliating to the United States in that it pointed to U. S. inefficiency and lack of morale. However, it revealed nothing to the enemy, since the enemy wrote it.

On the other hand, it pointed to weaknesses which the United States had to cure if it was to win in Korea. The United States has always operated on the theory that it could not only take criticism but benefit from it.

MacArthur's Intelligence — On Dec. 30, 1950, I published extracts from General MacArthur's own intelligence reports on the size of the Chinese army which were at wide variance with his own public statements regarding the size of the Chinese army.

MacArthur, in trying to alibi his retreat from North Korea, stated on Dec. 2 that there were about 300,000 Chinese troops in Korea. On Dec. 4 he upped his estimate to more than one million Chinese in Korea or on the border. On Dec. 15, he announced that "a bottomless well of Chinese Communist manpower continues to flow into Korea."

I had reported that the Chinese forces were nowhere near as great as MacArthur claimed, only to be met with MacArthur's own official denials.

Therefore, on Dec. 30, I published excerpts from the reports of McArthur's own intelligence chief, Gen Charles Willoughby, estimating on Dec. 6, two days after MacArthur's million-man announcement, that there were only 96,000 Chinese opposite the UN 8th Army. I also published General Willoughby's report: "Lack of CCF (Chinese army) on 8th Army front due to deep withdrawal executed by 8th Army, it is evident that enemy, lacking any great degree of mobility, has been unable to regain contact."

This, in military language, meant that the Chinese, lacking transportation (mobility) had been unable to keep up with the fast retreat of the 8th Army. In other words, MacArthur's troops, according to his own intelligence officer, had run too fast.

Mr. Wright states that this revealed secrets to the enemy. It was published one month after the enemy knew all too well about the most ignominious retreat in American military history, but when the American people had not yet grasped the full portent of that retreat.

Incidentally, the above Willoughby report was published only after checking with a top Pentagon spokesman to make sure no military security would be breached.

Ridgway's promotion — On April 30, 1951, I published an abbreviated exchange of cables between the Pentagon and General MacArthur in Tokyo in which Washington notified MacArthur that it planned to promote Gen. Matthew Ridgway, newly appointed Korean combat commander, to be a full general; and in which MacArthur opposed his promotion. This column, which Mr. Wright complains about, revealed nothing more than military politics.

Less consumer goods — On Dec. 4, 1951, I published the minutes of a meeting at the Office of Defense Mobilization at which it was argued that the production of refrigerators, autos, and other consumer goods might have to be curtailed. I quoted production chief Manly Fleischmann: "If the production of consumers durable goods is reduced more than an additional ten per cent, it will be necessary to convert entirely to defense." This revealed that the American public might have to tighten its belt, but it gave no secrets to an enemy.

Deaf —— and Dumb!

From Washington—

The 1960 Democratic Nominee

By ROSCOE DRUMMOND

The Gallup Poll is already surveying party opinion as to who will be the Democratic presidential nominee in 1960.

The polling pretty much begins and ends with Sen. John Kennedy of Massachusetts, with Sen Estes Kefauver showing up at this point as a declining second runner.

Mr. Drummond

But we surely can't take it for granted that Senator Kennedy will get the nomination or that Senator Kefauver won't get it; so why don't we all get into the act? You have your opinion and I have mine.

As a matter of fact I might have something better than my opinion. While I was covering the governor's conference at Williamsburg last week, I played a little game. Every time I fell into conversation with a Democratic governor, I began by asking the same question. It went like this: "If you had to draw up a list of Democratic leaders among whom you would be very confident the 1960 Presidential nominee would appear, what are the names you would put on that list? This is your private list. Your name won't be used."

Wide Agreement

Nobody I approached refused to play. What struck me most was the remarkable agreement, among these Democrats, on the basic list from which the nominee would almost certainly come. Here are the names everyone mentioned as comprising the "magic circle" — in alphabetical order:

Sen. Albert Gore of Tennessee.
Gov. Averell Harriman of New York.
Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota.
Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas.
Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee.
Sen. John Kennedy of Massachusetts.
Gov. Robert Meyner of New Jersey.
Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan.

When I say that the foregoing list was unanimous with the governors I talked with, I don't mean that Governor Meyner mentioned Meyner, or Governor Harriman mentioned Harriman or Governor Williams mentioned Williams. They didn't. They had an easy out. They could truthfully say — or almost truthfully say — that they were thinking of only one thing, getting re-elected as governor. But their names were on all other lists I obtained and the foregoing eight names constitute the hard core of leading candidates for the 1960 nomination.

Clark Mentioned

Only three other names were cited. They were suggested, as possibilities which couldn't be wholly ruled out, by two or more Democratic governors:

Sen. Joseph Clark of Pennsylvania.
Gov. Edmund Muskie of Maine.
Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri.

Now, Gallup and the Democratic governors agree on one point — that Senator Kennedy is at this stage easily the leading candidate. Gallup reports that Kennedy is the first choice of 50 per cent of the Democratic voters. With the governors, he was the first candidate named every time.

I would venture these comments on the Governors' list:

Senator Humphrey has grown greatly in office. He was always bright. He has acquired increasing balance.

Though others may think he is wholly out of the running because he will be 69 by 1960, Governor Harriman isn't ruling himself out. He looks much younger than his age and I've never seen him looking fitter.

Senator Kefauver has tried hard twice for the nomination and it seems farther away this time.

Kennedy Only 40

Senator Kennedy is only forty. He says he will not be a candidate in 1960. Perhaps he himself thinks he is still a little too young, a little too limited in experience.

If Governor Meyner is re-elected this fall, he will be in a strategic position, the popular governor of a populous state.

In prosperous times the Democrats are not likely to pick Governor Williams.

In many ways Senate Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson could prove to be the real sleeper in this list. If the mood of the country is for moderation in 1960, Senator Johnson is moderation itself. He is the most middle of any of the Democratic party's middle-road candidates. If the final shape of the civil rights bill permits him to vote for it, Lyndon Johnson may be a very formidable candidate, come 1960.

U. S. Disarmament Policy Indecisive

By WALTER LIPPMANN

There is a remarkable resemblance between General Eisenhower's handling of the disarmament negotiations and his handling of the budget. In both cases, that is to say, he has launched a proposal and embarked on a course, not having made up his mind about just where he wished to go. The deliberation, the weighing of alternatives, the hard work of making a firm decision, would in an orderly and rational conduct of government have preceded the presentation of the budget and the sending of Mr. Stassen to London to negotiate with Mr. Zorin.

Mr. Lippmann

But in the case of the budget, it took nearly two months before it was reasonably clear whether the chief executive was for or against the executive budget. Only after much confusion and controversy did the President begin to make clear where he stood.

In the case of disarmament, it has now transpired that he started the diplomatic exchanges with no real agreemnet within his own official family, with no adequate understanding with our allies, and with his own mind still fluid. During the past few weeks, with Mr. Stassen abroad in London to speak for him, the President has acted the part, not of a statesman who has a policy but of a puzzled man who is thinking out loud.

Problems Great

No doubt the problems of disarmament are extraordinarily complicated. They are fraught with uncertainty and with risk, and there is an awful responsibility on one who, like the President, must make the final decisions.

But there is no reason why he had to enter into the negotiation; why he had to send Mr. Stassen to face Mr. Zorin, until he knew for certain whether he was in favor of reaching the kind of agreement that might conceivably be possible. He should have waited until he was ready. There was no use talking with the Russians if the President himself had not yet thought through his policy, no use if high officials in Washington were convinced that they must nullify what Mr. Stassen was supposed to do.

In the field of diplomacy, this has been like committing unprepared troops to a great battle, while the generals have not yet arranged for their supplies or ceased to argue with one another about the objectives of the battle. This the way to demoralize an army, and during the past week there has been a very considerable demoralization in Washington. The greatest doubt has been raised as to whether the President wants an agreement, or whether he could now persuade the Senate to ratify an agreement.

Mr. Gromyko is wrong in saying, as he did last week, that the United States is using the disarmament talks as a "screen concealing its striving to continue and intensify the arms race." The truth is that the United States is not really using the disarmament talks at all because the President and his administration have a policy to which some are opposed, and about which the rest are not convinced.

Unless the President can find some way to clarify and then to make firm the American position, we shall find ourselves either with a treaty that the President does not really want, or with one that the Senate will reject. In either event, we shall bring down upon ourselves the onus of blocking the path to a limitation of armaments.

Red Position Unknown

I have heard it said that this will not happen because if and when Mr. Stassen really starts to negotiate about the details with Mr. Zorin, he will find the Soviet Union is quite unwilling to reach a good agreement about inspection and control That may well be true if the negotiations are genuine.

But if we remain in our present position where the probabilities are against the ratification of a disarmament agreement, the Soviet Union can go very far in its offers without running the risk of having to make good on them.

We had better assume that the Russians do want an agreement, and that they are prepared to pay a considerable, though not an enormous, price for it. We had better assume, too, that we shall have ourselves to clear up the confusion in our own position, and that we must not count upon the unreasonableness of the Russians to save us from the consequences of our uncertainty and indecision.

South Fears Radical Change in Its Life

By LYLE C. WILSON

WASHINGTON (UP) —It is six months now since President Eisenhower sent to Congress a four-point program to compel Southern states to accord certain civil rights to Negroes.

The four points were these:

Mr. Wilson

—Establish a bi-partisan commission to investigate civil rights violations and to make recommendations.

—Create a civil rights division in the Justice Department.

— Provide "new laws to aid in the enforcement of civil rights."

—Permit the federal government to act in civil courts to impose civil rights by injunction.

Russell Flays Press

Point four would permit punishment without trial by jury of persons who obstructed civil rights for Negroes as defined by law and the Constitution. This is the point most actively assailed by Southern Democrats in Congress and it is the point in which compromise might finally be had.

The administration bill is likely at this session to be amended to provide for jury trials or to die in Senate filibuster. A similar bill sponsored by Eisenhower died last year in Congress. The issues have been widely debated but not yet to the extent to which they would be explored if the Senate filibuster developed.

Sen. Richard B. Russell (D-Ga.) Tuesday accused American newspaper and radio - television media of "abuse of the constitutional guarantee of freedom of the press" through a "campaign of deception" about the real objectives of the pending civil rights proposal.

Russell said the bill had come along behind a smoke screen of propaganda that it was mainly a bill to insure Negro voting rights whereas its real purpose was to give the federal government unprecedented power to force white and Negro children to attend school together.

The Eisenhower bill unquestionably is intended to arm the Justice Department with power to speed through the courts the racial integration of the southern school system. It appears to be no less directed, however, to bring to the polls those Southern Negroes who do not or cannot vote.

Eye On Polls

It is racial integration in the schools which fires the South to angry protest. A general movement of Negroes to the southern polling places on election day, however, would reshape the southern way of life about as much and as rapidly as the mixing of white and Negro children in the schools —and, perhaps, reshape things too in the North and West.

Several factors, including poll taxes, tend to reduce the Negro vote. Conservative Southern politicians who win comparatively safe seats in the House or Senate remain a long time. Their power multiplies with the accumulating years until they achieve committee chairmanships and enormous authority to help or hinder legislation in their field.

The Southern conservative bloc in Congress somewhat balances the comparatively radical Northern Democrats. Conservative southern Democrats and conservative Northern Republicans have been combining for years to oppose and sometimes to defeat the left wing elements of both parties. It is a fair assumption that the conservative Southern politician will begin to disappear from Congress if and when the Southern Negro vote is cast.

Thereafter, the conservative voice in Congress will have just about the force and volume of a piccolo section in a 531-man brass band.

Kuvinka Acts to Keep League Together

Mon Valley League Commissioner George Kuvinka is maneuvering adroitly to keep his eight team organization together throughout the season. As matters stand now, three teams are toying with the idea of disbanding. However Kuvinka has reportedly made some concessions to keep them in the chase. Ironically it isn't a financial problem which is threatening the league. Rather, some of the second division teams are having trouble fielding nine players. They merely want permission to cut off some of the "dead heads" and sign youngsters who are willing to show up for games . . . "We'll act on each case for the good of the League," reports Kuvinka.

Jim Hamer, of Fayette City, has been rehired by Bert Bell as a member of the National Football League officiating staff. He will be in his 12th professional season . . . Returning for his sixth campaign as a pro whistle-tooter will be Joe Connell, former Charleroian who now lives in Warren, O. . . . Mike Yennerell, the fellow who staged the recent fight card in Jeannette, is not disappointed by the small turnout. He is busy planning similar promotions, hoping to rebuild boxing interest in the district . . . Monessen High's football opener this season will be at Windber on Sept. 14 — a Saturday night.

Major League All-Star Game on TV

The Major League All-Star game next Tuesday will be telecast over KDKA-TV beginning at 2:15 p. m. Mel Allen and Al Helfer will share the commentary . . . Helfer, by the way, first hit the sports headlines as a standout footballer at Monongahela High back in the twenties . . . Dick Mongelluzzo, football and basketball player at Donora High last season, has reportedly stirred some interest at Miami University. If he gets a bid south he will be the fourth Big Six product to head in that direction. Maurice Mathieu, of Monessen, and Joe Novsek and Bill Olsavsky, of Redstone, have already okayed Miami offers.

Speaking of football schloarships, Monessen's Robert Burns, a good-looking end, may wind up at Arizona State College . . . Apparently Carl Crawley, the pile-driving MHS fullback, hasn't made up his mind yet, even though Dayton is anxious to have him . . . Pitt's 1958 football schedule will be released "officially" Sunday. Home opponents will include Holy Cross, West Virginia, Army, Notre Dame and Penn State . . . Incidentally, Pitt has already sold 17,000 season tickets for the upcoming football campaign. Interest is running high in Coach John Michelosen's Panther gridders.

New Castle's Chuck Tanner will be honored by his hometown fans on July 16 when the Chicago Cubs visit Forbes Field. Incidentally that same night, the Pirates and Cubs will complete their suspended game of June 16 . . . Rumor has it that Rostraver High is having trouble filling its football coaching staff. A couple of candidates have already shied away after hearing of the pay and other "problems." . . . Jim Weir, Rostraver High athletic director, is again conducting an adult driving training course during the summer.

Checker Play Begins

Banks to Present Exhibitions

The 1957 edition of the state checker tournament got underway here yesterday at the Pythian Center with more than 100 experts bidding for the title.

The vent will run through Sunday.

Today and tomorrow, the tourney show will be featured by exhibitions staged by Newell W. Banks, of Detroit, Mich.

Banks, the famed world's blindfold and eleven man ballet champion, is officiating the tourney. He will accept all challengers in checkers or chess tonight and tomorrow at 8 p.m.

Banks plans to play as many as 30 foes simutaneously and blindfold.

Public Invited

The public is invited to both exhibitions.

According to tourney officials, at least $270 will be distributed to winners in the major tournament and $175 to winners in the Minor Tourney. Late entries may boost the prize list even more.

Preliminary play is designed to cut the big field down to 12 men who will take part in the major tournament. The remaining players will compete for prizes in the minor tourney.

After three rounds of play, Monessen's Metro Haridin, of 324 Schoonmaker Ave., is still going strong. He defeated Wilbur Campbell, of Williamsport, and Charles Gregorivch, of St. Michael's; then drew with Irvin Allman of Philadelphia.

Undefeated Players

Other undefeated players after three rounds are Dr. Albert A. Dubroff, of Conshohocken (president of the State Checker Association); William W. Thomas, of Homestead; Gilbert Raich, Philadelphia; Herman L. Rudolph, Philadelphia; Irvin Altman, Philadelphia; Adam Wojcik, McKeesport; Mike Kulick and Eugene Jodon, both of Monessen.

The tournament is being sponsored by the Mon Valley Checker Club.

PNA Rallies to Beat Myfords In City Softball Play, 2 to 1

PNA rallied for one run in the sixth inning and another in the eighth to nip the Myfords, 2-1, in City Softball League action on Wednesday.

The Myfords scored their only run in the first inning off of starter Ray Wattras. In the second, Binks Adamczyk took over the pitching chores for PNA and held the losers to three harmless singles from then on.

Good Pitching

Tony Turcaso pitched good ball for the Myfords, but an error got him into trouble in the eighth stanza.

Malush and Maurice Mathieu paced the winners at bat with a pair of singles each.

Johnson Homers In Eighth Frame To Decide Game

Monessen Ozark manager Leon (Pappy) Johnson, after apologizing for three costly errors, slammed a home run in the eighth inning to give his team a "protested" 5-4 decision over Charleroi in Mon Valley League baseball action at the losers diamond on Wednesday.

Johnson's circuit clout cleared the right field fence some 338 feet away..

That blast made the popular Ozark boss the hero of the game rather than the goat. Afield, Johnson had one of his poorest days, committing three errors.

Bill Mitnick earned credit for the pitching win, tossing a six hitter while fanning six. Fred Uhlman took the loss despite 11 strikeouts.

This evening the Ozarks will play host to New Eagle at Ninth Street Park. Still hoping to make the playoffs, the Monessen boys have to mount a winning streak if they are to accomplish that goal. Right now, they have an 11-13 record.

Three in First

The Ozarks scored three runs in the first inning at Charleroi. A walk, error and infield single loaded the bases. Carl Crawley singled in a pair of runs and Paul Jezioro clouted home another.

Charleroi came right back in their half of the first inning for a pair of runs. Two errors, a walk, and single by Walt Cieply accounted for the tallies.

In the fifth, Charleroi squared things. This time two errors by Johnson caused the damage.

In the sixth, Monessen nudged in front. Mike Young singled and advanced to second on Tom Rotheram's sacrifice. Rotherham was also safe when the play was too late to nab either runner. Crawley forced Larry Papini, but the veteran infielder dropped the ball and Young scored.

File Protest

The Charlerolans argued at this point that Rotheram had overun second to crash into Papini. When Umpire Harry McCurdy disallowed the claim, the contest was played under protest.

Charleroi squared the score in the sixth inning. Jim Lazzari singled and moved to third on a couple of infield outs.

Then reliable Ron Danko dropped an easy fly ball to let in the tying run.

However Johnson sent all of the Monessen fans home happy in the first extra inning by stroking his clutch homer.

DOCTORING YOUR GOLF

By CARY MIDDLECOFF

Inconsistency

Golf is a game of "feel." At the top of the backswing, for example, you must depend on a sense of feel to know what your hands and the clubhead are doing since they are out of sight.

Unless your sense of feel is highly developed, the hands and clubhead may be reaching varying positions without your knowing it. And when the hands and clubhead positions vary at the top, the swing and its results will vary, too.

So practice taking the club back to the position you feel it should reach. Hold the position for about a minute. Then start again at the address position and repeat. Pretty soon, you'll get to "feel" when your hands and clubhead reach a wrong position at the top.

Pirates Defeat Dodgers, 5 to 1; Lose Nightcap

NEW YORK (UP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates broke even Thursday in a holiday doubleheader with Brooklyn, defeating them, 5-1, in the opener behind Bob Friend and dropping the nightcap, 8-2, to Don Newcombe.

The victory was Friend's first in three weeks, while the win for Newcombe marked his eighth in 14 decisions and compared with his 9-5 record this time last year when he went on to win 27 games.

Bob Purkey, victor over the Dodgers three times this season, suffered the second game setback. He was relieved in the fifth when the Dodgers scored four runs, after they had tallied three in the previous frame.

Charley Neal led the attack in the nightcap, driving in three runs with a triple and a single.

In the first game, Friend kept the Dodgers scoreless after giving up a first inning run while getting off easy in a bases-loaded no-out situation.

Carl Erskine, looking for his third straight victory, was sent to the showers in the fifth after falling behind, 3-1, and was the loser.

Today the Pirates face New York at the Polo Grounds. Probable pitchers: Trimble (0-0) vs Antonelli (6-7).

Hold Leads Over Big Holiday

By JOHN RIFFIN

The Cincinnati Redlegs vs the New York Yankees in the 1957 World Series.

That's the prediction today from baseball's most famous "crystal ball" — the old axiom that the teams leading the major leagues on the Fourth of July will win the pennants. And the whammy has been getting stronger in recent years.

Cincinnati clung to the top rung in the NL on the holiday despite a 10-7 slugfest loss to Milwaukee. The Cards fumbled a chance to take first place at the mistone by losing the first game of a twin bill to Chicago, 7-6, before winning, 4-3. Brooklyn also split, losing to Pittsburgh 5-1 before winning 8-2, but Philadelphia swept the Giants, 2-1 and 6-2.

The Yankees protected their AL margin by winning, 4-1, after losing, 3-2. The White Sox blew a 5-4 decision to Kansas City before winning, 8-3. Cleveland downed Detroit, 3-1, but then lost, 4-3. In a single game, Baltimore beat Washington, 3-2, in 11 innings.

Aaron Hits No. 26

The Braves had 14 hits and the Redlegs 17 in a single game. Hank Aaron slammed his 26th homer, the majors' tops, plus two doubles and Ed Mathews hit his 17th, while George Crowe had five straight hits for the Reds, including two homers, to drive in six runs.

Don Larsen's five-hitter, marred only by Mickey Vernon's homer, gave the Yankees their second-game win — the second straight complete-game win for the "perfect game" hero who got off to a sour start this year. Vernon hit another homer in the first game—a pinch-hit, two-out, two-run job in the ninth inning off Bob Grim to snatch victory from defeat.

The A's beat the White Sox in the pre-lunch half of their morning-afternoon twin bill by rallying for five runs in the last of the ninth. The Sox made sure of the second with 15 hits as Bob Keegan scattered 11 A's' hits to win.

Early Wynn tossed a three hitter for the Indians in their opener to tie for top winning honors in the majors with his 11th victory as Rocky Colavito smashed a three-run homer. But Charley Maxwell singled home two runs in the ninth inning to give Detroit the second game.

Baltimore rallied for a run in the last of the ninth to tie Washington, 2-2, and then won in the 11th when Jim Brideweser singled home a run with two out off reliever Truman Clevenger.

The Cubs rallied for two runs in the last of the ninth to beat the Cards in their opener, a game finished by the Cards under protest over a "safe" call at first base on a Chicago runner who later scored. Sam Jones' six-hitter gave the Cards the nightcap despite two homers by Dale Long.

Bob Friend's seven-hitter gave the Pirates their opener against Brooklyn, but Don Newcombe scattered nine hits to take the nightcap as Duke Snider bagged three hits, including homer No. 16.

Harvey Haddix beat the Giants for the Phils in their opener on an eight-hitter as Rip Repulski's homer supplied his winning run, and lefty Curt Simmons took the nightcap although he needed ninth-inning relief after two-hit shutout ball for eight frames.

Elks Assure Tie for Second Half LL Title

Elks assured at least a tie for the second half title in the National Division of the Little League Wednesday by beating the challenging CIO nine, 8-3.

The Elks now have an 8-1 record for the chase. They need just more wins in their final three games to wrap things up.

CIO, the first half champion, must win all of its remaining games to keep alive its second half hopes.

Larry Davis had a triple, double and single while Tom Maatta tossed their big win on Wednesday. Ed Kilpela chipped in with a double and single while Tom Maata tossed five hit ball, fanning 10.

Nuzzaci Doubles

Ralph Nuzzaci had a double and single for the union boys.

The Lions had no trouble smearing the Legion. Frank Destefano scattered four hits after taking over the mound chores in the first inning. The Legion had scored six runs in the first frame, but they couldn't touch Destefano after that.

Middlecoff Stays in Contention

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland (UP) — Cary Middlecoff and Frank Stranahan, improving with the Scottish weather, were in contention for the first time today for the final two rounds of the British Open golf championship.

Middlecoff, hampered by hay fever and the betraying winds that have swept the ancient and royal St. Andrews course during most of the tourney, played his best game Thursday as a warm sun broke through along with a cooling breeze. The golfing dentist from Memphis, Tenn., fired a one-under-par 71 as did Stranahan to easily qualify for the final two rounds.

Middlecoff and Stranahan, the only two Americans remaining in the field, which was pared down to the low 50 scorers for today's third and fourth rounds, trailed Scottish professional champion Eric Brown by four and six strokes, respectively. But both were hopeful an improved putting game would put them in the thick of contention for the coveted title.

Brown collected a 72 Thursday to go with his opening round 67 for a 139 total, while Lawrie Ayton, also of Scotland, soared to a 76 to drop out of a tie with Brown with a 143 aggregate. Flory van Donck of Belgium moved into second place with a 140 total.

Bruce Crampton of Australia and Bobby Locke of South Africa were next at 141, followed by defending champion Peter Thomson of Australia, John Fallon of England and Tony Cerda of Argentina, tied at 142. Tied at 143 with Middlecoff and Ayton were Jimmy Hitchcock and Keith MacDonald of England, John Patton of Scotland and Dick Smith, a Scot amateur. Stranahan, of Toledo, Ohio, was tied with six others at 144.

Woman's Hair Is Caught in Boat Propeller

CROCKETT, Calif. (UP)—A San Francisco woman was literally scalped Thursday when her long black hair became entangled in the propeller of a power boat.

The accident took place Thursday as Henry Galbraith was backing his 30-foot obat, Scapia, out of Dowrello's Yacht Harbor.

His wife, Lucretia, 51, loosened some floorboards to check the bilge pumps. Her hair, which reached to her hips, caught in the whirling propeller shaft.

Galbraith shut off the motor, but by then it had pulled away much of her hair. It took him 10 minutes to extricate her.

He rushed her to Brookside Hospital in San Pablo where she underwent delicates urgery to repair the injury. Doctors said she would recover.

Boy Scouts to Leave Tuesday for Jamboree

Officials of the Westmoreland-Fayette Council, Boy Scouts of America, said today that its contingent of 124 Boy Scouts, Explorers and adult leaders are ready for their "once in a lifetime" experience at the fourth National Jamboree to be held July 9 to 19 at historic Valley Forge.

The local Jamboree party will leave at 9 a.m., Tuesday, July 9 from New Stanton by chartered bus.

A huge tent city on 2,033 acres, loaned by the state will house the 50,000 inhabitants of America's newest, youngest, and busiest city. In effect it will comprise 38 "villages" of about 1,400 campers each.

Boys from all walks of life, of all races and creeds, will live together exchanging skills, swapping home-town products, and learning about the customs and traditions of many sections of the nation.

The national jamboree will also have an international flavor. About 500 Scouts and leaders are expected from Australia, Bahamas, Brazil, Canada, Chile, Cuba, Denmark, Great Britain, Greece, Iran, Israel, Peru, Philippines, Sweden, Switzerland and Venezuela. There are 63 nations around the world with Boy Scout associations with a total membership of over seven million boys and leaders.

The purpose of the jamboree is to strengthen the program of the individual troop and to provide an opportunity for boys to be associated with Scouts from all parts of their own country. This living together in a spirit of brotherhood and friendship is one of the continuing objectives of the Scout movement and the basis for its undertaking this gigantic gathering.

Scouts from this Council will be taken on a special tour of Philadelphia on Thursday, July 18. Most of the day will be spent visiting places of historical importance.

Spectacular evening programs on Friday, July 12, and Thursday, July 18, will take place in a natural amphitheatre holding 50,000 campers and several thousand guests. The stage is 300 feet wide and 100 feet deep.

The Federal Communications Commission has issued a temporary license for radio station K3BSA to be operated at the jamboree by licensed "ham" operators. Through it campers may send important messages to distant points. The three transmitters form the official jamboree station of the Boys' Life radio club.

Warehouse space of 18,000 square feet is being used for the 52,920 cases of non-perishable foods weighing 752 tons. If laid end to end, frankfurters to be consumed by the boys would extend over 17 miles. Daily milk requirements will total 74,480 quarts, or the full average production of 7,448 cows.

Each day 1,500,000 gallons of water wil flow through 8 miles of water mains. Twelve miles of primary electric lines will bring in 900 kilowatts. Six 300-line switchboards will be the camp's own telephone system with 50 trunk lines to the out-side world.

The special phone number is Jamboree 3-7100. Valley Forge, routed through Philadelphia. Western Union has installed an office in the general headquarters area.

Unhappy Wife Hates Company

HOUSTON, Tex. (UP)—Johnny L. Weidner, a 25-year-old bus driver, was free today on $1,000 bond put up by one of his three wives.

Weidner was clapped in jail on Thursday when a disgruntled wife exposed his multiple marriages.

Two of the wives, Dorothy, 18, and Jean, 26, his legal wife, indicated they would stand by their tall, handsome husband. However, Jo Ann, 22, turned him in.

Weidner's first marriage was annulled. He then married Jean, and the couple separated. Then, within six weeks, he married Jo Ann and Dorothy in that order, according to sheriff's deputies.

Ike Takes Ride On Horseback At the Farm

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (UP) — President Eisenhower was a likely candidate for a round of golf and possibly another horseback ride today.

Newsmen were surprised late Thursday when they spotted the President astride one of his two quarterhorses, trotting through a south cornfield on his Gettysburg farm.

On a farm inspection trip which he usually takes by station wagon, the President was dapper in tan breeches, white shirt, bow tie and wide-brim tan stetson. He seemed to be concentrating but was nevertheless at ease in the saddle.

The President used to ride quite a bit in his early Army days, but this was the first time he's been known to have ridden at his farm.

The President began his Fourth of July with an early-morning 18 holes of golf at the Gettysburg Country Club.

He and Mrs. Eisenhower spent a quiet evening at their farm Thursday night as the town of Gettysburg crowded the sidewalks to watch an hour-long Fourth of July parade and then flocked to a fire department carnival on the recreation field.

He'll Find a Way!

BIRMINGHAM, England (UP)—Richard Crompton, 26, admitted today he will do almost anything to attract the attention of his lady love.

Opening an account at a Birmingham bank last year, Crompton found he "rather fancied" the pretty girl behind the counter, 22-year-old Ruth Waterhouse.

He wrote her notes, but she ignored him. He wrote her letters at the bank addressed to "Queen Bee" and "Golden Girl." She ignored those, too.

Crompton disguised himself with a false moustache and followed the girl home, but she slammed the door in his face. He posed as a crippled, blind beggar outside the bank, serenaded her with Neapolitan love songs and offered Miss Waterhouse the coins he collected from sympathetic passersby.

His would-be lady fair refused to listen to his songs and turned up her nose at the coins.

Five days ago Crompton walked into the bank wearing his white tennis shorts, nodded politely to the staff and then began turning handsprings in the middle of the lobby.

This time Miss Waterhouse noticed her suitor. She called police and charged him with being a nuisance.

The judge found him guilty Thursday of being a "blemisher of the peace" and fined him $70.

Miss Waterhouse is still ignoring him.

Doctors Revive Woman; Baby Is Born Alive

CHIPLEY, Fla. (UP) — A 25-year-old Negro woman died on the delivery table, was revived three minutes later by two Chipley doctors and then gave birth to a 6-pound, 12-ounce boy, it was reported here today.

Drs. Hugh Thompson and Walter Shehee of the Washington County Hospital said Mrs. Nellie Atkins, who has one other child, suffered a heart attack while in the delivery room late Tuesday night and was pronounced dead.

Thompson said he and Sheehee immediately opened her chest and massaged her heart. Three minutes later she was revived.

The doctors then delivered the boy by Caesarian section.

The doctors said that Mrs. Atkins breathing had stopped and there was no heart beat when she got into the delivery room. They said she had been in labor for two days and had been unable to deliver the child normally.

'OVEN' SURVIVOR — Bruised, scratched and sunburned, Mrs. Wilma White tells in Houston, Tex., about her six-day ordeal in the Big Bend badlans "oven" of Texas, during which she and her husband were stranded when their car became stuck in the sand. Mrs. White struck out for help and survived. Her husband struck out later, died of exhaustion and heat.

A Late Start

TRENTO, Italy (UP) — Horse trainer Salvatore Cara, 80, retired to an old age home and began to bone up. He brilliantly passed his primary school exams. "I never had time to study before," he said.

Church Faces Ministerial Problem

NEW YORK (UP) — The Rev. William Howard Melish, controversial left-wing Protestant Episcopal minister, faces a decision today of whether to attempt next Sunday to occupy the pulpit of Brooklyn's Holy Trinity Church from which he has been barred by the state Court of Appeals.

If the Rev. Mr. Melish decides to defy the court's Wednesday ruling, the service may turn into a noisy competition between himself and the Rev. Dr. Herman S. Sidener whom the Brooklyn appellate division has upheld as legally elected rector. The Rev. Dr. Sidener, who was elected 16 months ago, says he intends to conduct his first service this Sunday "if there is no legal impediment."

Once before, on Jan. 15, 1956, the Rev. Mr. Melish refused to budge when a supply minister appointed by the bishop of Long Island conducted a simultaneous communion service and attempted to preach a sermon. Melish drowned out the newcomer and forced him to retreat in mid-service.

The 47-year-old Rev. Mr. Melish said the court's ruling "will create an unprecedented situation", but that he will not announce his intentions until he and his attorneys have considered "every possibility." One of those possibilities is his arrest if he defies the court order. Another is trial before an ecclesiastical court on charges of bringing the church into dispute.

The 11-man vestry of the church is unanimously pro-Melish, and the Rev. Mr. Melish also has the backing of about 200 members of the 275-member congregation.

2 Memorials

In loving memory of our dear husband, father and grandfather, John Coch, who died four years ago today, July 5, 1953.
Always so good, unselfish and kind,
None on this earth your equal we'll find.
Honorable and true in all of your ways,
Loving and faithful to the end of your days.
Honest and liberal, ever upright,
Just in your judgment, always right.
Loved by your friends and all whom you knew,
One in a million, that Father was you.
Four years have passed, our hearts are still sore,
As time rolls on, we miss you more;
A loving father, tender and kind,
What beautiful memories you left behind!
Sadly missed by Wife, Children and Grandchildren.

In loving memory of our dear wife and mother, Mrs. Anna Lancas, who died 15 years ago today, July 5, 1942.
You are not forgotten, mother,
Nor will you ever be
As long as life and memory last
We shall remember thee.
We miss you now, our hearts are sore,
As time goes on we miss you more.
Your loving smile, your gentle face,
No one can fill your vacant place.
Sadly missed by Husband and Children.

Battle Near in Cuban Showdown

SANTIAGO DE CUBA (UP) — Reports here today indicated a showdown battle may be imminent between government troops and rebel forces in the Sierra Maestra Mountains.

There were reports of heavy troop movements on Palma Soriano, 18 miles northwest of Santiago. Other reports told of the sudden "disappearance" of "numerous" Cubans and there was speculation they had joined the rebels headed by Fidel Castro.

Second Rocket Is Expected to Be Fired Today

FORT CHURCHILL, Man. (UP) —A U.S. task force fires the second Aerobee-Hi rocket aimed at the ionosphere today at this northern Canadian test site and main rocket center fort he International Geophysical Year.

The first rocket/fired Thursday soared 160 miles into the air at a speed of 4,200 miles per hour. The 21-foot rocket took about 10 minutes to make the round trip.

A total of 76 of the Aerobee-Hi projectiles will be fired from this top-ranking proving ground the 18 months of world-wide IGY tests.

Thursday's rocket fell short of the 193-mile altitude record set by an Aerobee at the White Sands Proving Grounds in New Mexico, April 20.

The rocket tests are being made at the Fort Churchill Canadian army testing base, 600 miles northeast of Winnipeg, Man.

The cone in the rockets' nose contains 145 pounds of sensitive electronic recording devices installed by the Naval Research Laboratories in Washington, D.C.

Fireworks Truck in Explosion

SILVER CITY, N.M. (UP)—A faulty skyrocket backfired into a truck loaded with a ton of fireworks Thursday night and touched off a violent explosion that rocked Silver City.

About 10,000 persons, on hand for the annual Fourth of July display, saw the spectacular accident.

Two men were injured critically and five other men were treated for minor burns at the Hillcrest General Hospital.

Several other Silver City businessmen, who had been helping set off the fireworks before practically the entire population of the county, scurried to safety. But Melvin H. Porterfield, 41, and William E. Ward, 45, were caught by the main blast.

Porterfield and Ward had just set off the faulty skyrocket and had no chance to get away as the flames and sparks spewed back into the truck.

Jack Bailey Tells of His TV 'Queen' Show

By JACK BAILEY

HOLLYWOOD (UP)— The truth about the American housewife is that, in spite of automation, electronics and the atomic age, the thing she wants most is still a washing machine. How do I know?

Because five days a week, 52 weeks a year, 800 women attend our show in Hollywood and on the back of their admission card they name what they want most if the audience elects them "Queen For A Day." Week after week, for 11 years now, the washing machine has been number one on their wish parade.

We get all kinds of wishes; some light, some serious, like the one from the young wife who was both deaf and mute and expecting a child. She wanted an electronic warning apparatus, one that would flash lights in every room in the house when it picked up the sound of her baby crying.

One Raised Worms

Then there was the one from a woman who wanted us to help her get rid of some worms. She was in the worm - raising business, it seemed, and when the bottom dropped out of the market she thought we'd be able to help her get rid of the wrigglers. She didn't win, though, and we were spared the task.

Generally, women wish for something that will improve daily living or lift the veil of tragedy that has been suddenly thrown over their homes. They want hearing aids, glasses, orthopedic shoes or special educations for their youngsters, necessary things that are beyond the financial means of many families.

Many Totally Unselfish

Not infrequently, women appear with totally unselfish wishes; they want something for someone else. One woman who returned from missionary work in Korea wished for money to be sent to a Korean orphanage. Another for a bicycle for her paper boy.

But the washing machine is number one and anyone trying to raise three or four youngsters can understand why. Because many women still don't have any kind of washing machine and many others need later models, we give every "queen" a new automatic in the array of household gifts that all our winners receive.

Mink, diamonds, a chateau on the Riviera, a powder blue convertible; all of them may be a girl's best friend, but to the average American housewife, the washing machine is the real symbol of her emancipation from drudgery and hard work.

Gold Record Spintacular On KDKA Radio

KDKA's first annual "Gold Record Spintacular" during which the station will air only those songs that have sold more than a million copies — has been set for Monday.

According to Guy Harris, KDKA's program manager, all music from 5 a. m. to midnight that day will be drawn from the million-seller lists, beginning with the first, "The Wreck of the Old '97."

Other old-timers include "Romona," by Gene Austin; Paul Whitemen's "Three O'Clock in the Morning;" "Begin the Beguine," by Artie Shaw; Cab Calloway's "Jumpin Jive;" and many numbers by Bing Crosby, the Dorsey brothers, Harry James, Frankie Laine, Glenn Miller, and Les Paul and Mary Ford. Altogether, there are nearly 200 million-seller ongs — both old and new — on KDKA's gold record list.

Six Capitol stars have pre-recorded announcements saluting KDKA's three disc jockeys, Rege Cordic, Art Pallan and Bob Tracey, and the station's gold record spintacular. The stars are: Tennessee Ernie Ford, George Shearing, Billy May, Les Baxter, the Merry Macs and Ray Anthony.

Life Grows Ever Wider For Hard of Hearing

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

In our regular monthly review of medical developments a while back, I discussed a new type hearing aid which reportedly opened up a world of new sounds to many persons with hearing difficulties.

I received so many inquiries for additional information on the device that I thought some of you might be interested in learning about a few other items which are readily available to help those who are hard of hearing lead a more normal life.

However, let me emphasize one point: I am not trying to sell any of these items for any manufacturer, so I will mention no brand names. Besides, I am sure that several firms manufacture such items as the following.

Radios designed especially for the hard of hearing. Most of these sets can be used either with your own hearing aid or with a special earphone. They offer private radio listening at the volume best suited to your needs, without disturbing others nearby.

Television attachments which perform similar functions. One attachment available is for hard of hearing persons who need extra help for listening to TV, but who do not ordinarily wear hearing aids.

Telephones made especially for those with hearing difficulties. These instruments amplify the caller's voice permitting easy conversation.

Alarm wrist watches which wake you through vibration rather than sound. Even if you can't hear a regular alarm, you will be able to feel the special vibrating backs of these watches which transmit impulses directly to your wrist.

Hearing aids that come in various forms.

I can't imagine why anyone is any more sensitive about wearing a hearing aid than wearing glasses, but the fact is some persons are.

Girard Refuses To Comment on Buddy's Charges

TOKYO (UP) — Reports that an Army buddy has testified Army Specialist 3-c William S. Girard "coaxed" Mrs. Nakai Saki within firing range before shooting the Japanese woman drew a "no comment" today from the Ottawa, Ill., soldier and his military legal adviser.

Girard and his advisor, Maj. Stanley F. Levin, met about 50 American and Japanese reporters at a press conference at Camp Whittington shortly before Girard and his Japanese sweetheart, Haru (Candy) Sueyama, were married in religious ceremonies.

"I have no comment," Girard said when asked about statements made by Specialist 3-c Victor M. Nickel, who was on guard duty with Girard last Jan. 30 when the shooting occurred on a U.S. firing range.

According to Rep. Omar Burleson (D-Tex), Nickel has signed a sworn statement in which he said Girard suggested he toss expended shell cases to entice Japanese metal scavengers within range. A shell casing fired by Girard with his grenade - launcher equipped rifle fatally wounded Mrs. Nakai Sakial.

Bypass Casbah When Visiting in Algiers

By ARTHUR HIGBEE

ALGIERS (UP) — Come wiz me to the Casbah—and get a knife in your ribs.

A guidebook says, "You can wander at will in all these alleyways, you cannot get lost." The guidebook was written before the Algerian rebellion came and made the Casbah the hottest half-kilometer in all this French colony.

The number of "attentat," the crisp French word for outlaw attacks by gun, knife or bomb, are so frequent that it is now forbidden for Europeans to go about the Casbah without a military escort.

According to one version, the outlaws have a chief executioner named Ali Le Point (Point of the Knife), who has his lair in the Casbah and uses methods that make Pepe Le Moko seem like Charley's Aunt.

(There really was a Pepe Le Moko around the turn of the century, but he is said to have been a common fence, hashish peddler and assassin with no time for romance, whose present reputation is the work of scriptwriters and the mellowness of time.)

Casbah is the Arab word for fort, although it has come to mean the Moslem quarter of any city in Algiers. The Casbah here is still a walled city within a city. Its population is about 80,000 and it is almost exclusively Moslem.

The Casbah has dozens of entrances. Today, all but a couple have been barricaded with rolls of barbed wire by the French to discourage rebels from shooting people and then ducking into the nearest entry to the Casbah to disappear from sight.

The barricade method, though effective, backfired last month when an outlaw lobbed a grenade from behind one of the barricades into a passing streetcar, killing one man and wounding 20 other persons.

The law here is represented by the judge or "cadi," Soleiman Tchandarli, whose family came originally from Turkey. He wears the red rosette of an officer of the French Legion of Honor in his buttonhole.

"You must not wander about the Casbah," he warns. "Not in the present situation."

And your wanderings are shortly at an end for when you turn up the next street you are stopped by a patrol of four youthful draftees in American-style helmets carrying Sten submachineguns.

"How did you get here without an escort?" the corporal asks. "It is not permitted."

But who wants to see the Casbah with an escort? And so you leave, the four soldiers politely following you to the exit. Charles Boyer and Hedy Lamarr never had it so tough.

At Least 1,500 Killed in 'Quake

THERAN, Iran (UP)—Rescue workers have recovered the bodies of at least 1,500 persons from the rubble of Tuesday's earthquake in the Caspian Sea area, it was officially reported today.

The workers counted at least 500 dead and 6,000 injured in the Babul and Mazanderan areas alone.

CHICAGO (UP)—Little Mike, an 18-month-old chimpanzee at Brookfield Zoo, had been olnely until he got four new playmates—all girl chimps. Now there are five chimpanzees but only four chimp houses. His bachelor days are over.

Strange new "tools" of atomic-electric power

These are some of the strange new "tools" used to produce, test, or experiment with atomic-electric power. They are among the things that will help bring electricity from the atom.

"Tools" like these are being used in developing several atomic-electric plants now under way. Electric light and power companies from many parts of the country are working with each other and with equipment manufacturers and the Atomic Energy Commission to develop the plants.

For more than 75 years, America's independent electric light and power companies have produced more electricity than any other nation in the world. And they have helped develop ways to produce it more efficiently year after year. That's why you can expect electric companies like this one to continue to do their part to advance the new science of producing electricity from the atom.
